1 2 3

Production runner (TV or film)

Runners work behind the scenes in TV or film, doing small jobs and basic tasks to help the production run smoothly.

What you'll do

Your day-to-day duties may include:

- collecting and delivering equipment and scripts
- distributing messages and post, and running errands
- filing and photocopying
- answering the phone and greeting visitors
- driving vehicles around sets or between locations
- finding props
- keeping sets clean and tidy
- looking after studio guests or documentary interviewees, getting lunches and making tea and coffee

Working hours and environment

Your hours will depend on the production. You may work long and unsocial hours, including early mornings and late evenings.

Working environments also vary, as you might be based in a studio, edit facility, production office or on location. You'll spend a lot of your time running errands and moving between offices and production areas.

Location work could be anywhere in the UK or overseas, and you may need to travel and work away from home.

Career path and progression

If you already have some industry experience or have completed training, then you may be able to apply for a Creative Skillset Trainee placement.

With experience, you could move into a production assistant, assistant producer (AP) or producer role.

Skills required

You'll need:

- enthusiasm, flexibility and adaptability
- communication and 'people' skills
- excellent organisational and time management skills
- stamina and the ability to work long hours

Got evidence of these skills? Record your examples on the Skills tool >

Entry requirements

There are no set requirements. Employers will be more interested in your enthusiasm and initiative than formal qualifications. Previous experience in office work, customer service or hospitality could be useful to show administrative and organisational skills.

You could do a course that includes practical skills, work placements and making contacts in the industry. Creative Skillset has details of industry-endorsed courses and The Production Guild offers a runner's workshop.

Broadcasters like the BBC, ITV and Channel 4 offer work experience placements, graduate schemes, and insight days.

You could get into this job through an apprenticeship.

Related Know-how guides

Explore Know-how guides related to this career:

Get on the ladder: TV, radio and film production >

Related university subject profiles

These university subjects are related to this career; check out their profiles on the Subjects library:

- Drama and Theatre studies >
- Film and Photography >

Related career profiles

You may also be interested in:

- Broadcast journalist >
- Roadie 🔉
- Media researcher >
- D| >
- Assistant director (TV or film) >

Explore

Want to see what relevant education and training opportunities are available right now? Search here:

Drama and Theatre studies at uni:

Film and	Photography	at uni:
----------	-------------	---------

		0
USA >		υк 🔉		Canada 🔉	Europe 🗲	Asia 🔰	Australasia 🔰	Middle East and Africa 🔰	Ireland
Apprent	ic	eships	•

UK 🕻
------	--

Labour Market Information (LMI)

Current and predicted figures relating to the Production runner (TV or film) profession. Median averages are shown, each with the specific career, or group of careers, that they apply to.

• UK USA
🖻 Jobs
Artistic, literary	and media occupations
342,	899
	• 2,417 in your local area of Liverpool
Top 5 local	areas
1	Surrey	8,868
2	Hackney	8,587
3	Kent	8,466
4	Hertfordshire	8,120
5	Lambeth	7,261

https://www.unifrog.org/student/careers/keywords/tv-or-film-production-runner

🛄 s	alaries
-----	---------

Photographers, audio-visual and broadcasting equipment operators

£29,047

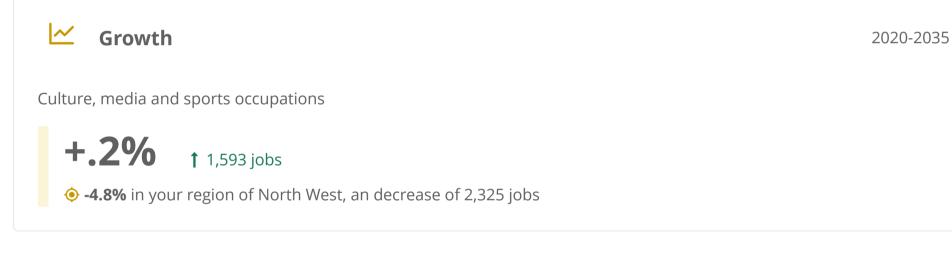

Artistic, literary and media occupations

£32,914

• £30,531 in your region of North West

Top 3 regions

1	South East	£35,849
2	London	£34,864
3	North West	£30,531

Save to Favourites? 🛡

You haven't favourited any Careers library profiles yet

People also liked...

Those that liked this career profile also liked the following

Director (TV or film)

TV and film directors are responsible for the artistic vision of a script. They make key decisions including cast choices and production design.

Read the profile >

Assistant director (TV or film) 🖤

Assistant directors support directors by organising and planning everything on TV or film sets.

Read the profile >

Producer (TV or film

TV and film producers oversee the a programme or film. This could in budgeting and marketing.

Read the profile >

https://www.unifrog.org/student/careers/keywords/tv-or-film-production-runner